Notes
1.	Building warrant records and documents will not be made available for inspection or copying (where permitted) unless an 'interested party' makes application to the Building Standards Service. These records can only be made available for inspection at the Building Standards office at Southbank House, Strathkelvin Place, Kirkintilloch, Glasgow, G66 1XQ Interested party' in the case of residential buildings means an owner, occupier, tenant, or prospective owner, occupier or tenant of the relevant building or of an adjoining building. For prospective owners, occupiers or tenants please note that we will check with the owner the validity of your claim prior to making the information available unless the owner countersigns the application. Proof of being an interested party of an adjoining building will be required and we will generally advise the owner of the building of your application to inspect records.
2.	Part I of the Building Standards Register of applications under the Building (Scotland) Act 2003 is available on the Council website below. (Please note limitations on content in Part 1). Part 1 of the Building Standards register of earlier building warrants records, where information is not available on the Council's website, can be made available for private searches (generally back to May 1975) for references to be provided and to allow the Building Standards Service to subsequently retrieve the building warrant record(s) from archive stores if still held.
3.	Building warrant reference(s) must be provided to retrieve the building warrant file(s) from Part II of the Building Standard Register. Where the building warrant reference(s) is not known, a search may be carried out by the Building Standards Service of the Building Standards Register on payment of a fee for a search of building warrant records back to May 1975 and retrieval of the building warrant file(s) if still held. Details of current fees are available on request. For the search and retrieval fee, we will also provide copy documents (excluding drawings) of one single warrant record where these are available from the building warrant record files. A confirmation letter would otherwise be provided from retrieved building warrant record information. Retrieval and copies of documents from subsequent warrant records are also charged for each additional building warrant file, or, where record documents are not available, to provide a letter of confirmation from retrieved building warrant record information.
4.	It may be possible, on the payment of a fee and subject to any copyright restrictions to obtain copies of documents contained in Part II of the Building Standards register when being viewed. Details of current fees are available on request. The copying of drawings and some other information will be subject to individual pricing and may require to be outsourced by the Building Standards Service. Copies of full drawings may therefore not be available if requested when calling to view documents.
